3. Student Achievement

a. 2025-26 Federal Programs Funding Update

Amy Cole, Director of Federal Programs and Compliance, presented on federal programs funding in Roane County. State Superintendent Blatt, along with Margaret Williamson and Amon Gilliam from the Division of Federal Programs and Support, held an informational meeting on July 15th about the current pause on federal funding streams for Title IIa, Title IVa, which approximates to about $177,000. These paused funds have not been released to the U.S. Department of Education due to a review currently underway by the Office of Management and Budget that is focused on ensuring alignment with the current federal administration policies. We are waiting to see if and when funds will be released and will plan accordingly, just in case.

b. 2025 Special Education Determination for Roane County Schools

Michelle Ash, Director of Student Support Services, presented a letter from Sheila Paitsel, Director of Special Education in the Division of Federal Programs and Support with WVDE. The letter explains that IDEA requires States to make annual determinations of each LEA's compliance with IDEA.

Therefore, though we were monitored last year and were in the "needs assistance" category, we have improved and moved out to the "meets requirements" category. We will continue to grow and raise our scores for next year concerning our compliance and management of funds, but we're glad to say that our students are being provided the services they need.

4. WVBE Policy 2322: West Virginia Support and Accountability

The WVBE Policy 2322 is the policy that governs continuous improvement of the school district. It encourages us to build the capacity and ensures the efficiency of how schools and the district are run. It sets expectations that we will have parent involvement, family involvement and community involvement in all of our schools and in our operations at the board level. It gives performance indicators and defines that local responsibility does fall with the Superintendent and Roane County Board Education and it does state that we can be held accountable for failure to operate the schools efficiently and within the guidelines. It also gives us framework for self-assessment, decision-making, professional development and the strategic planning process and also defines the roles of LSIC's.

5. Update on Roane County Schools State of Emergency

I have met with the Office of Accountability and worked together to set expectations. We immediately scheduled appointments and met with our leadership team to discuss these expectations and began to divide tasks to preparation to report tonight. We have had many meetings with the finance department. Uriah held a training for our staff and leadership team to go over the entire book of reports.

Next, a member of the Accountability and Finance Office will do a full scrub of the budgets for Food Service and the Special Education to see if we can identify what led to us being significantly over budget in those departments. We will also devise a plan of how we will prevent that from happening again.

The leadership team will meet and put together a main plan and a few optional plans. We need to schedule a work session on Tuesday, July 29th, to discuss scenarios.

Superintendent's Remarks

We want to introduce our new Coordinator of Special Education Compliance, Sara Beth Monk. She was hired at our previous board meeting and has been working hard.

I had the privilege today to attend the Rotary Club meeting in Spencer. Thank you Mr. Hedges, who invited me to be the speaker. I gave a brief overview about myself and my leadership experience. My first leadership experience was sponsored by Rotary and that is where I felt I got my identity as a leader and realized that I wanted to do this with my life. I enjoyed connecting with the community and hearing what they're thinking.

Lastly, I would like to recognize Erica Moore, our Delegate for the House of Delegates, who came out tonight to visit with us and help us through our financial struggles. We thank you for your help.
