3. Policy 2322 - 2025-26 Academic Review

The Roane County Board of Education reviewed preliminary academic performance data for the 2025-26 school year, noting that final state assessment results remain under embargo until the data is verified and officially released later this fall. Superintendent Michelle Stellato reported that overall student performance held steady despite a year marked by school consolidation, staffing challenges, and other disruptions. District data showed continued gradual improvement in reducing the number of students performing below benchmark levels, particularly in math.

The board also reviewed i-Ready assessment data from each school, highlighting growth in several areas and strong progress at Geary Elementary/Middle School despite staffing reductions and other challenges. Principals acknowledged that distractions throughout the year impacted instruction but emphasized the dedication of teachers and staff to maintaining student learning. Looking ahead, district leaders said academics and student achievement will be the district's primary focus, with increased attention on assessment, instructional practices, data monitoring, and school improvement efforts.

2. Title Programs Budget Overview

The Roane County Board of Education received an overview of the district's federal Titles program budgets for 2025-26 from Director of Federal Programs and Compliance Amy Cole. The district expects a decrease of about $70,000 in Title I funding and approximately $16,000 in Title IV funding, while other federal allocations remain largely unchanged. Cole explained that federal funds are restricted to specific approved uses, including intervention services, professional development, technology, family engagement, and student support programs.

A key budget proposal includes using Title I funds to support assistant principal positions at Spencer Elementary and Spencer Middle schools, allowing principals to focus more on classroom instruction, teacher support, and academic monitoring. Superintendent Michelle Stellato emphasized that strengthening instructional leadership is part of the district's renewed focus on academic achievement. The board also discussed the importance of grant funding, after-school programs, and planning for potential changes in future federal education funding.

3. Surplus Material Declaration

Treasurer Ann Hardman explained that the surplus includes furniture, shelving, books, classroom supplies, musical instruments, sporting equipment, and other materials from SES, GEMS and WEMS that are no longer needed by the schools. In accordance with the West Virginia Constitution, Article 7, WV Code 126-143, WV Code

18-2, WV Code 18-4, the State Board of Education Policy 5309 and Roane County School Policy 121, the members of the Roane County Board of Education have completed their evaluation of Miss Michelle Stellato for school year 25-26. Board members were provided with the West Virginia State Board of Education approved evaluation tool consisting of mutually agreed goals and objectives for Ms. Stellato approved before September the 15, 2025. As required by code, the goals support progress of the county's strategic plan with one of the goals related directly to student achievement and performance of low performing schools. Additionally, the Roane County Board of Education established a 37-point evaluation across 9 separate categories related to required evaluation areas as set forth in WV State Code and the WV State Board of Education Policy. Ms. Stellato provided a narrative response to these goals for all board members. Each board member independently completed an evaluation document. Based on those responses, the board president compiled and presented one aggregate report to the whole board for discussion of the superintendent's strengths and weaknesses, as well as the board's own performance as the public body ultimately charged with the educational responsibility of Roane County. During this formal evaluation, the Roane County Board of Education found Ms. Stellato to have met the standards on the majority of the standards set forth by the evaluation tool. Areas needing improvement were identified and discussed for future performance for both the superintendent and the board. In respect to the required goals related to student achievement, the board established a measurable goal to ensure that the percentage of students in 3rd through 8th grade increased mastery in mathematics and English language arts by 5%, as measured by a recognized system of benchmark assessments at the beginning, middle, and end of the year in 25-26. Benchmark assessments from i-Ready on grade level and mid-year GSA benchmarks demonstrated that this objective was not met. It is noted that the end of the year GSA data was embargoed at the time of this evaluation. Improvement in future performance before both the superintendent and the board were also part of this discussion.

Changes of terms and benefits of salary were not discussed in executive session as Ms. Stellato's contract remains in effect until June 30th of 2027.
